Use this template to guide your review of your partner's essay. Answer all questions here, and feel free to add additional notes outside of the categories below.

REMEMBER: Be respectful of the work your partner has put in. Treat your partner as you like to be treated.

TASK ORIENTATION

Does the essay follow the task? How do you know this? [Look at the assignment itself and the guidelines given.]

Yes, the essay follows the task because it was supported by details from different resources. It described animal artificial cloning from different contexts.

STRUCTURE

Locate the thesis--and say it in your own words to be sure you understood it.

Now find the topic sentences. Does each topic sentences sum up or introduce its paragraph effectively?

Yes, each topic sentence introduced the paragraph effectively because it follows by relevant and supported details.

SUPPORT & ANALYSIS

Is evidence being used for any and all statements made? Does the author introduce, analyze, and explain the evidence? What's the strongest piece of evidence?

Yes, evidence was used to support why artificial cloning is necessary. In addition, more evidence was used to support another paragraph. I would like to suggest to use evidence/ quotes that support what was discussed and also used quotes that can be understood without paraphrasing

ORGANIZATION

Does the paper read smoothly? Are there parts that seem out of place or confusing? (Mark these. Give suggestions if possible.) Add any transitions that would make the organization smoother.

I like the structure of the literature review, the flow and the transition of the paragraphs were smooth. The topic sentences also was great and relevant to what it was discussed. I enjoyed read the essay!

CLARITY

Write what you consider:

1. the clearest sentence

These studies were very expensive, and there was a high risk that the experiment would fail, resulting in the loss of all investment.

2. the most confusing sentence

Following the previous investigations' advances, the most significant case emerged, and how revolutionary the way in which artificial cloning was perceived, I am referring to the successful cloning of Dolly the sheep

PROOFREADING

Note here any suggested changes in wording, grammar, punctuation, or spelling:

I don't have any suggestion regarding wording or grammar.

OVERALL

What single change would make the most improvement in this essay?

I think the essay is strong and well organized. The only suggestion I would like to add is adding evidence that are supporting the topic.
